To the Members of Cumberland Lodge:

In April, 1912, when the undersigned took charge of the Secretary's office of Cumberland Lodge, he saw the necessity of compiling a roster of the membership from the institution of the Lodge, as calls for information regarding old members were frequent and the work of hunting over the record books was both tedious and laborious.

He at once set to work upon the task, and after six months' steady labor, all of which was performed outside the time required for his regular duties, he was enabled to place before the Lodge what is believed to be the name of every brother who has belonged to it from its institution to the end of the first one hundred years. Not only this, but he has card indexed the same, and anyone can tell in a moment's time the date at which any brother was initiated, passed and raised, or when admitted, together with the date of termination of his membership, and how terminated, if not still a member, provided the record books of the Lodge show the same.

The Lodge has all its minute books from organization until the present time, with the exception of the book covering the first five years of its existence. This has not seriously interfered with the compiling of the names of the members, as it has been possible to obtain them from other sources, but the dates of initiation, passing or raising, or affiliation, it has been impossible to obtain.

It is in the range of possibilities that some were initiated or affiliated during those five years whose names were not obtained, though it is not at all probable. To have been missed, it would have been necessary for them to have commenced and terminated their membership during that period, and even so, their membership would have been revealed in other ways.

The figures "1815" and "1816" appearing in the column headed "Became a Member," indicate that the brother became a member during the year named, but the exact date, or how he became a member—whether by affiliation or initiation—could not be ascertained.

In the matter of the spelling of names, he has followed the record of the Lodge, except in cases of late members, where the present Secretary is absolutly certain the record spelling was incorrect. In such cases he has corrected them. In one instance, the name of one member was borne on the rolls incorrectly spelled for a long period of years, and it was only when his son was initiated that it was discovered that the name had been spelled wrong.

It will be observed that the same name appears two, three and four times as a member of the Lodge. While it may be true that it is the same man, still, at this late day, things cannot be taken for granted, and the Secretary thought it best to give each member a new number as he came into the Lodge, no matter if he dimitted and affiliated a dozen times, rather than run the risk of mixing two or three different members' records in an inextricable mass. At best, he felt that, if a member did dimit and affiliate again, it was the same, as regards the total, as if John Smith dimitted and William Brown affiliated—it was a loss and a gain.

In many instances in the record of the Lodge, in the early history, members were reported as "dropped from the roll." This was, as it now appears, where a member had strayed away, was behind in his dues, the Lodge knew nothing of him, and took that method of clearing the books. Under the laws then existing, such members were considered "non-affiliates," and many of them afterwards affiliated with other lodges. Within the last thirty years, the Grand Lodge law permitted subordinate lodges to "drop from the roll" members who were in arrears for dues, but they were not non-affiliates—simply suspended Masons—and could only be restored to membership by paying up and being restored by their own Lodge.

In the column of "Remarks" will be found blanks after the names of very many members of the Lodge who have ceased to be members. The Lodge records fail to show how they terminated their membership. Many are, of course, dead, but the date of their death is unknown, and that is just what is desired by the publication and distribution of this roster. It has been the earnest endeavor of the compiler to obtain these dates, that a complete record may be had, and he asks the membership to aid him in this work.

Many of the members undoubtedly went into the various wars that have occurred since the organization of the Lodge—1812, Mexican, Indian and Civil—and were either killed or never returned, and no record made of them—just lost sight of them.

In supplying these dates, recourse has been had to histories, newspaper articles, Grand Lodge reports, tombstones in the old City Cemetery, and various other sources, the idea being to have it as correct as possible.

This roster includes the names of only those who became members of the Lodge between June 24, 1812 and June 24, 1912, but where a member has terminated his membership in any manner since the latter date, it has been noted.

While Entered Apprentices and Fellowcrafts are not considered "members" of the Lodge, in this roster the roll number of each one known to be alive is printed in black, the same as the Master Masons, to indicate that they are still alive, and that they are "material" of the Lodge.

This roster is now presented to the membership with the request that they furnish to the Secretary any information possible that is authentic, so that the record of Cumberland Lodge will be prized by its members, and the labors of its future historian will be lightened.

C. H. Smart, Secretary.
