

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

3. The three grand principals may convene grand chapters of emergency when necessary. The reason for convening a chapter of emergency shall be expressed in the summons; and no other business shall be entered upon at that meeting.

4. Any member of the grand chapter intending to make a motion therein, or to submit any matter to its consideration, must, at least twenty-one days previous to the convocation at which the motion or other matter is to be brought forward, send a notice thereof in writing to the committee of general purposes, to be constituted as hereinafter provided.

5. The companions acting as grand principals at any meeting of the grand chapter shall respectively take the three chairs provided for the three grand principals.

6. No member of the grand chapter shall be present at the opening thereof, unless he be a principal or past principal of a chapter.

7. The grand janitor and his assistants shall, at every meeting of the grand chapter, attend without the entrance, and act as scrutineers, in order that no unqualified person may be admitted.

8. No person shall be exalted in the grand chapter except princes of the blood royal, peers of the realm, or foreign brethren of distinction, recommended by the first grand principal.

9. An annual report of the transactions of the

1. The grand chapter being opened, and the regulations having been read, the minutes of the last quarterly convocation, and of any intervening

2. All matters are to be decided by a majority of votes, each member having one vote, and the presiding officer two votes, unless the grand chapter, for the sake of expedition, shall think proper to leave any particular subject to the determination of the presiding officer. The votes of the members are to be signified by each holding out one of his hands, which hands the grand scribes are to count, unless the presiding officer shall declare the numbers so unequal as to render the counting unnecessary.

3. Whenever the presiding officer shall call to order, there shall be general silence.

4. All members shall keep their seats, except the grand scribes, the assistant sojourners, and the grand director of ceremonies, who are allowed to move about from place to place in the discharge of their duties.

5. No companion shall speak twice to the same question, unless in explanation, or the mover of a resolution in reply.

6. Every one who speaks shall rise and remain standing, addressing himself to the presiding officer, and no companion shall interrupt him, except to speak to order, or the presiding officer to call him to order; but after he has been set right, he may proceed, if he observe due order and decorum.

7. If any member shall have been twice called to order by the presiding officer, and shall nevertheless be guilty of a third offence at the same meeting, the presiding officer shall command him forthwith to quit the grand chapter, and he shall not be again admitted to that meeting.

8. Whoever shall be so unmasonic as to hiss at a companion, or at what he has said, shall be forthwith solemnly excluded the convocation, and declared incapable of being a member of any grand chapter, till at another grand convocation he publicly own his fault, and grace be granted.

9. No motion on a new subject shall be made, nor any new matter entered upon, after eleven o'clock at night.

Of the GRAND OFFICERS.

1. The grand master of the fraternity of free and accepted masons of England for the time being shall be first grand principal, if a royal arch mason. If the grand master is not a royal arch mason, the first grand principal shall be elected annually at the quarterly convocation in May, and forthwith inducted.

2. The office of pro first grand principal only exists when the first grand principal is a member of the royal family, in which case, if there be a pro grand master for the time being who is a royal arch mason, he shall be pro first grand principal.

3. The deputy grand master for the time being, if a royal arch mason, is to be second grand principal.

4. The grand secretary for the time being is to be grand scribe E, if he is an installed first principal, or past first principal of a regular subordinate chapter.

5. All ministerial duties and all privileges attached to the office of grand scribe are to be performed and enjoyed exclusively by grand scribe E.

6. The grand treasurer of the craft is to be grand treasurer, if a royal arch mason.

7. The grand registrar of the craft is to be grand registrar, if a royal arch mason.

8. All the other officers of the grand chapter are to be annually appointed by the first grand principal, except the grand janitor and his assistants, who are to be appointed by the first grand principal during his pleasure.

9. If any officer of the grand lodge, who would, if otherwise duly qualified, be for the time being an officer of the grand chapter by virtue of his office, shall not be qualified to hold the corresponding office in the grand chapter, the first grand principal shall appoint an officer to fill the vacant office in the grand chapter, except the grand treasurer, who shall in that case be elected by the grand chapter.

10. The grand wardens for the time being shall, if they are royal arch masons, be associate members of the grand chapter.

11. If any grand officer of the year shall neglect to attend his duty in the grand chapter for two meetings, without sufficient excuse, he shall be liable to forfeit the rank he may have acquired in consequence of his appointment.

12. Every companion appointed to office in the grand chapter shall, during his period of office, be a subscribing member of some regular subordinate chapter; and no future past grand officer, who shall for twelve months continuously cease to be a subscribing member of some subordinate chapter, shall be entitled to attend the grand chapter, until he shall have again become, nor except whilst he shall be, a subscribing member of some regular subordinate chapter.

13. Every companion who shall have served in the chair of first principal of a chapter, shall retain his seat in the grand chapter so long as he may continue a subscribing member to any chapter; but if such companion shall cease to be a subscribing member to some chapter for the space of twelve months, he shall from thence cease to have a seat in the grand chapter.

14. The grand janitor shall not, during his period of office, officiate as janitor of any subordinate chapter.

Of PROVINCIAL GRAND CHAPTERS.

1. For the better government of the chapters held at a distance from the metropolis, grand superintendents may be appointed by the first grand principal over the several provinces in which chapters are or may be held.

2. The grand superintendents must be present or past first principals of a chapter, and must, while they continue in office, be subscribing members of a chapter in their respective provinces.

3. The grand superintendents are empowered to appoint provincial grand officers, except treasurers, and to hold provincial grand chapters whenever they shall think it expedient so to do. They are also empowered to visit the several subordinate chapters in their district, to see that the laws and regulations of the grand chapter are observed; and are to enquire into irregularities, and hear and determine all complaints; and their decision shall be final, unless an appeal shall be made therefrom to the grand chapter; and to this end they may summon the officers and companions of any chapter to attend them, and to produce the charter and books of the chapter.

4. The provincial grand treasurer shall be elected by the provincial grand chapter.

5. The provincial grand chapter shall consist of the present and past officers (all being subscribing members to some chapter in the province, and the present grand officers being resident in the province), and of the principals and past first principals of the several subordinate chapters, so long as they continue subscribing members to their respective chapters.

6. Provincial grand chapters are to be subject to the same laws as are laid down for the government of the supreme grand chapter, so far as the same are applicable, except when a different regulation is expressly laid down.

7. Every provincial grand chapter shall have power to raise such funds from its members and subordinate chapters, as may be requisite for defraying its necessary current expenses.

Of PRIVATE CHAPTERS.

1. Every chapter shall be attached to some warranted lodge, and the rank or precedence of the several chapters shall be determined according to the priority of the lodges to which they may be respectively attached. In case of a lodge to which a chapter is attached being suspended or erased, the chapter may be attached to another lodge by the authority of the grand chapter.

2. No lodge can form or hold a chapter, unless it has previously obtained a charter from the grand chapter. The mode of application is to be by petition, signed by nine regular and registered royal arch masons, specifying the place where such lodge meets, and the time when and place where such chapter is proposed to be holden, with the names of the three intended principals.

3. In a province for which a superintendent is appointed, the petition must first be transmitted to him for his recommendation or opinion.

4. A fee of five guineas shall be paid for every charter of constitution, and a fee of two guineas for every charter of confirmation.

5. Every new chapter shall be solemnly consecrated, according to ancient custom, by one of the grand principals, or by some present or past first principal, delegated for that purpose by the first grand principal.

6. According to the ancient custom, a complete chapter of this order of masonry consists of the three principals, who when in chapter assembled are to be considered conjointly as the master, and each severally as a master, two scribes, three sojourners, and others, making up the number of seventy-two as a council; and no regular chapter can consist of more; but any number may be exalted and received as companions, thongh they are not to hold the staff of office, or be considered as counsellors, when more than that number are present.

7. All officers are to be elected annually, except the assistant sojourners, who are to be appointed by the principal sojourner. No companion of any subordinate chapter shall be eligible to be elected to either of the principal chairs, who is not at the time of such election the actual master or past master of a craft lodge, nor until he shall have served the office of scribe or sojourner of a private chapter for a year.

8. No companion shall be installed in the second chair who has not served in the third chair, nor in the first, unless he has served in the second chair of a regular constituted chapter, for the full period from one annual election to another. But this regulation is not to apply to foreign chapters, nor to any chapter at the time of its original constitution, nor to any chapter to which the first grand principal or the grand superintendent of the province in which such chapter may be holden shall grant a dispensation from the observance of the rule.

9. The mode of election shall be by ballot; for the office of first principal in the first instance, and the others in succession; and the officers thus elected and appointed shall be invested and inducted accordingly. If the numbers shall in any case be equal, the first principal shall have the casting vote, or he may order a new ballot, at his discretion. The janitors may be elected by a show of hands.

10. A register shall be kept by each chapter of all companions who shall be installed as principals; and every chapter shall notify to the grand scribe, E. the name of every companion so installed, with the date of his installation, and shall also notify to the grand scribe, E. whenever any companion who has been installed as principal shall, from any cause whatever, cease to be a member of the chapter; and no companion shall take his seat in the grand chapter as a principal, until his name shall have been so registered.

11. No companion shall fill the first chair of a chapter for more than three years in succession, nor the second or third chair for more than two years in succession.

12. The principals and past principals of provincial and foreign chapters may be installed out of their own chapters, upon the production of sufficient certificates of their being at the time the actual present or past principals, and being also contributing members to their respective chapters.

13. The officers and companions, whilst in chapter, shall wear the insignia of the order according to their rank.

14. In case of the absence of the actual first principal, his chair shall be taken by his immediate predecessor therein, or, in his absence, by the senior present of his predecessors therein, and in the event of no past first principal of the chapter being present, any past or present first principal of the order may, at the request of the chapter, take that chair and discharge the ceremonial duties of the chapter.

15. If any actual principal shall die or be removed, or be rendered incapable of discharging the duties of his office, the chapter shall proceed to elect a new principal in his place, giving due notice of such election.

16. The cash or treasurer's account of the chapter shall be kept distinct and separate from that of the lodge to which the chapter is attached.

17. Every chapter shall, at least once in each year, make a return to the grand scribe E. specifying the names, ages, professions, and dates of exaltation of the companions exalted, together with the numbers of the lodges to which they belong, and shall at the same time remit the registering fees and fees for grand chapter certificates which may be due. And if any companion exalted in foreign parts (and whose name therefore is not previously registered in the books of the grand chapter) shall join a chapter as a member, his name age, profession, and lodge, shall be returned, and the same fee shall be paid, as if he had been exalted in the chapter which he may so join. The names, also, of all companions who may join from any other chapter must be returned, and the chapter, in which they were exalted, specified.

18. There is no restriction as to the number of companions who may be exalted in a chapter on the same day.

19. Candidates for admission into a chapter must be duly proposed, approved, and ballotted for; and no one shall be admitted, if, on the ballot, there appear more than two negatives.

20. No mason shall be exalted to this sublime degree, unless he has been a master mason for twelve calendar months at least, of which satisfactory proof shall be given.

21. No person shall, under any pretence, be exalted for a less sum than three guineas, which sum may include the fee to the grand chapter for registering and certificate.

22. The registering fee to the grand chapter for brethren exalted shall be fifteen shillings, including the fee for the certificate; and the fee for a companion joining a chapter, his name being previously registered, two shillings and sixpence.

23. Every chapter shall be subject to erasure and forfeiture of its charter of constitution in either of the following cases :

Omitting to hold a meeting of the chapter for the space of two years.

Neglecting to make any return required by the foregoing laws.

Neglecting to register annually the names of all companions exalted, and of those who have joined the chapter.

But no chapter shall be erased, until the principals thereof shall have been duly summoned to show cause to the contrary to the grand chapter.

Of MILITARY CHAPTERS.

Military chapters may exist upon the same terms upon which the military lodges are permitted to exist by the constitutions of craft masonry, except that the consent of the commanding officer shall not be requisite for the establishment of a military chapter.

Of CHAPTERS of INSTRUCTION.

Chapters of instruction may exist under regulations similar to those which are laid down in the book of constitutions for the government of lodges of instruction.

Of the COMMITTEE of GENERAL PURPOSES.

1. The committee shall consist of the grand principals and pro first grand principal (if any), a president, and two other members to be nominated by the first grand principal annually, at the quarterly convocation in May, and six other members to be elected by the grand chapter, at the same convocation, from among the first principals and past first principals of subordinate chapters, being members of the grand chapter.

2. The committee shall meet on the third Wednesday in the months of January, April, July, and October, at three o'clock in the afternoon precisely; but when business requires other meetings, they shall be called by command of the first grand principal, or by the authority of the president.

3. Three members shall on all occasions constitute a quorum, and proceed to business.

4. In case the president be absent, the member highest in rank in the grand chapter is to preside at all meetings of the committee.

5. The committee shall have the superintendence of the finances of the grand chapter, and shall audit the accounts once a quarter, and make a report thereof to the grand chapter.

6. Whenever any notice of a motion or other matter intended to be brought before the grand chapter shall be given to the committee, the committee shall notify the same to the grand scribe E, for the information of any of the members of the grand chapter who may apply to him; and every such notice shall be inserted in the summonses for the ensuing meeting of the grand chapter.

7. The committee shall receive and examine all applications for chapters, or for the removal of chapters, and shall report thereon to the grand chapter.

8. In addition to the aforesaid duties imposed upon the committee, the committee shall take upon itself the same duties, and shall have the same powers and privileges in relation to the order of royal arch masons, which are respectively imposed and conferred upon the board of general purposes in relation to craft masonry by the book of constitutions; and the proceedings of the committee shall be regulated as closely as possible by the rules laid down for the proceedings of that board.

REGALIA.

The following clothing and insignia shall be worn, and no companion shall on any pretence be admitted into the grand chapter, or any other chapter, without his proper clothing.

The apron is to be of white lamb-skin, or white kid-skin, from fourteen to sixteen inches wide, and from twelve to fourteen inches deep, with
